1. Parents are responsible for paying all Dual-Enrollment fees, determined by the college/university, based on the student's state of residence. Billing and payment will be facilitated by the college/university directly.
2. It is expected that a family's SCS tuition account be in good standing before Dual Enrollment registration is approved. An SCS tuition account in arrears and/or failure to make appropriate payment to the college or university could result in the student not being awarded college credit for completion of the course.
3. Since these college courses follow the prescribed college curriculum, SCS does not guarantee that all material is consistent with the specific mission, vision, and values of SCS and Biblical integration cannot be guaranteed.
4. The student and parent(s) should understand that a college level course will include a higher level of rigor and expectation. The student accepts this responsibility and is committed to meeting and maintaining the academic standards expected of him/her in this course.
